

Privacy Policy

Effective Date: September 2, 2026

The Diocese of Raleigh Promotion of Racial Justice and Reconciliation respects your privacy and is committed to protecting the personal information of visitors who use this website.

This Privacy Policy explains what information may be collected through this website, how that information may be used, and the choices available to you.

Information We May Collect

You may visit and browse this website without providing personal information.

We may collect information that you voluntarily provide when you:

- Submit a contact form
- Send us an email
- Request information
- Register for or inquire about an event or program
- Subscribe to communications, if such a feature is offered
- Otherwise communicate with us through the website

Information you provide may include your name, email address, telephone number, organization or parish affiliation, and information included in your message.

Automatically Collected Information

Like most websites, this website may automatically collect limited technical information when you visit, such as:

- Internet Protocol (IP) address
- Browser type
- Device type
- Operating system
- Pages visited
- Referring website

- Date and time of access

This information may be used to maintain the website, understand how visitors use it, improve its content, and help protect the website from misuse or security threats.

How We Use Information

Information collected through this website may be used to:

- Respond to questions and requests
- Provide information about programs, events, resources, and initiatives
- Communicate with visitors who request information
- Improve website content and functionality
- Maintain website security
- Understand general website usage
- Support the mission and activities of the Promotion of Racial Justice and Reconciliation

We do not sell personal information provided through this website.

Cookies and Analytics

This website may use cookies or similar technologies that help the website function properly and provide information about how visitors use the site.

Third-party services used by the website, including website hosting, analytics, embedded media, maps, or other services, may also place cookies or collect limited technical information according to their own privacy policies.

You may control or disable cookies through your browser settings. Disabling certain cookies may affect the operation of some website features.

Third-Party Websites

This website may contain links to websites operated by the Diocese of Raleigh, parishes, ministries, community organizations, government agencies, educational organizations, social media platforms, or other third parties.

We are not responsible for the privacy practices, security, accuracy, or content of websites operated by third parties. Visitors should review the privacy policies of those websites before providing personal information.

Children's Privacy

This website is intended primarily to provide educational, informational, and community resources.

We do not knowingly use this website to solicit personal information directly from children under the age of 13 without appropriate parental or guardian consent.

If we become aware that personal information from a child has been collected improperly, reasonable steps will be taken to remove it.

Information Security

Reasonable administrative and technical measures may be used to protect information submitted through this website.

However, no website, electronic transmission, or electronic storage system can be guaranteed to be completely secure. Visitors should use appropriate care when submitting personal information online.

Your Choices

You may contact us to request that we correct or remove personal information that you previously submitted through this website, subject to applicable legal, administrative, or recordkeeping requirements.

You may also choose not to provide personal information through the website and instead contact the organization through other available methods.

Changes to This Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy may be updated periodically to reflect changes in website functionality, organizational practices, or applicable requirements.

When significant changes are made, the Effective Date shown at the top of this page should be updated.

Contact

Questions regarding this Privacy Policy or the website's privacy practices may be submitted through the Contact page of this website.

Diocese of Raleigh

Promotion of Racial Justice and Reconciliation